Problems Without Passports Guatemala - Summer 2017

Anthropology 400 - Maya Resilience: Constructing Past and Present Identities

Join anthropological archaeologist Prof. Thomas Garrison in an exploration of Maya culture, past and present. Through visits to archaeological sites, museums, and Maya communities, students will engage with the complexities of issues relating to cultural identity. Over the course of two weeks you will immerse yourselves in the world of the Maya and see how the conflicting interests of indigenous cultural heritage and national economic development are navigated in 21st century Guatemala.

Information sessions will be held in ACB 330 at the following dates and times:
- Tue, Feb. 7 - 11:45-12:45
- Mon, Feb. 13 - 2:15-3:15
- Wed, Feb. 22 - 1-2

For further information, email Prof. Garrison at thomas.garrison@usc.edu