New to creative writing, or haven’t tried it yet? Experience the intensive yet inspiring environment of a writers’ workshop. Learn four different literary forms (personal essay, memoir, flash fiction, short story) and analyse the literary techniques of accomplished authors in these forms. Through your own study and input from fellow workshop participants, you will learn to “read as a writer” and “write for a reader”, producing a portfolio of your own work. Above all else, this workshop will encourage you to experiment in order to define and refine your own voice.
