America’s Pacific Century:
Dialogue between the United States and Asia

The School of International Relations offers a unique Maymester (May 20 through June 7, 2013) that focuses on the US foreign policy towards East Asia. Taking the policy task force format, the course analyzes the recent US foreign policy towards Southeast Asia. The goal is to draft a Policy Report with our recommendations to the new US foreign policy team after the 2012 presidential election. By connecting and visiting Singapore to participate in events, conduct interviews and make presentations, students will receive first-hand research experience.

Informational Meeting: October 31 (W) 11:30-12:30 in VKC 300. Deadline to apply: November 20, 2012.
We will confirm your acceptance by December 3. Students should register for this course for Spring 2013.

The departmental requirements for the class:
3.0 GPA, IR 210 and one IR course on East Asia.

For further information, contact Prof. Saori N. Katada, School of IR (Email: skatada@usc.edu)

Estimated costs:
- USC tuition: $5,892 (4 units; please register for spring 2013)
- Room and board: $1,000
- Airfare and miscellaneous costs will be discussed at the information session

Possible funding: SOAR, School of IR, Luce Fellowship (Transpacific Center), US-China Institute, Freeman Foundation, and Asian Foundation.

USC reserves the right to cancel the trip in case of an emergency beyond its control, or to cancel the course due to low enrollment.