Second Year Inquiry—SSEM 200

Pathways to Career Success for First Generation College Students

USC Dornsife is offering a 2-unit Sophomore Seminar (SSEM 200) titled Pathways to Career Success for First Generation College Students in the Fall 2013 semester as part of a new Second Year Inquiry program. This course will explore the connection between potential careers and academic programs in the liberal arts and sciences, particularly for first generation college students. Students will:

- create individualized student pathways to careers
- Develop plans for internship
- Examine intellectual interests, goals and skills development
- Explore the world of work

Students will develop plans for future internships, scholarships, coursework, and academic and extracurricular practices which will enhance ability to secure meaningful employment in desired fields upon graduation.

First Generation Sophomores, rising Sophomores, and Juniors in USC Dornsife are encouraged to apply!
