Are you interested in exploring the problems and opportunities of globalization from a cultural perspective?

CONSIDER EXPLORING:

ARCHAEOLOGY: This interdisciplinary major offers both theoretical and hands-on experience to explore courses in Anthropology, Classics, Art History, Linguistics, and Religion.

ART HISTORY: This major exposes students to a diversity of theoretical approaches intended to sharpen critical and conceptual thinking. The curriculum is designed to provide a general knowledge of both western and eastern art.

CENTRAL EUROPEAN STUDIES: This major combines background in relevant languages, usually Russian, German, or Polish, with course work in international relations and the history, culture, and politics of the region.

CONTEMPORARY LATINO AND LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES: This interdisciplinary major covers perspectives on the indigenous and transnational histories, cultures, and social issues of the Americas, including Central and South America and Chicano/a and Latino/a communities in the United States.

EAST ASIAN LANGUAGES AND CULTURES: This major provides students with a well-rounded education on East Asia by focusing on the study of the languages, linguistics, literature, thought, and civilizations of China, Japan, and Korea. Students typically concentrate on one East Asian language and culture.

FRENCH: This major involves the mastery of the language and its literary and cultural expressions in fiction, non-fiction, dramatic, cinematic, and poetic texts, as well as the study of social and political institutions.

GLOBAL STUDIES: This interdisciplinary major, that includes a junior year study abroad experience, allows students to select from a number of different global regions and use research tools from fields including anthropology, comparative literature, history, political science, international relations, and religion.

ITALIAN: This major explores the richness of the Italian language, and its culture, literature, cinema, history, and arts from the Renaissance to today’s global world.

JEWISH STUDIES: This major is offered jointly by the USC and the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, an independent college adjacent to the USC campus. It provides the opportunity for in-depth study of Jewish thought, ethics, history, literature, tradition, spirituality, and women's studies.

MIDDLE EAST STUDIES: This interdisciplinary major offers students interested in exploring the richness and complexity of the Middle East a framework for developing both expertise and wide-ranging critical perspectives on the region’s past, present, and future.

RUSSIAN: This major combines thorough preparation in the Russian language through study of Russian literature, art, and culture with emphasis on contemporary developments.

SPANISH: This major focuses not only on language, linguistics and literature, but also related areas, such as cultural and literary theory, film studies, the culture of food, and the acquisition and uses of Spanish and English in Los Angeles.
Enhance your degree with a related minor, or delve deeper by getting involved with one of our centers and institutes.

Global Languages and Cultures

Minors & Institutes

Center for International Studies

East Asian Studies Center

Institute for British and Irish Studies

Institute of Armenian Studies

Arabic

Chinese for the Professions

Cultural Anthropology

East Asian Area Studies

French

Arabic and Middle East Studies

Latin American Studies

Middle East Studies

Russian Area Studies

Korean Studies Institute

Max Kade Institute for Austrian, Swiss and German Studies

USC Shinso Ito Center for Japanese Religions and Culture

USC Shoah Foundation–The Institute for Visual History and Education

Comparative Literature

Cultural Studies

East Asian Languages and Cultures

German

Cultures and Politics of the Pacific Rim

Italian

Korean Studies

Luso-Brazilian Studies

Russian

Southeast Asia and Its People

Spanish

Visual Culture