Non-Tenure-Track Lecturer Positions, East Asian Languages and Cultures

The Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures in the Dana and David Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, California, may have one or more full-time or part-time openings for non-tenure-track lecturer positions in the Chinese, Korean, or Japanese languages for the academic year 2013-2014.

The Department of East Asian Languages and Cultures provides students with a well-rounded education on East Asia by focusing on the study of the languages, literatures, and cultures of China, Japan and Korea at both the graduate (Ph.D.) and undergraduate (B.A.) level.

Applicants should have an M.A. or Ph.D. in language pedagogy, second language acquisition, linguistics, or related fields, and possess native or near-native fluency in both their language of instruction and English. Evidence of commitment to dynamic and effective language teaching is essential. Salary and benefits are competitive.

Please submit application letter, curriculum vitae, statement of teaching interests, teaching evaluations, sample teaching video (preferably two levels, such as basic and intermediate or basic and advanced level classes), and three recommendation letters, at least one of which speaks to teaching abilities. All application materials should be submitted to:

Non-Tenure Track Language Lecturer Search
East Asian Languages and Cultures
Taper Hall 356
University of Southern California
Los Angeles, CA 90089-0357

In order to be considered for this position, applicants are also required to submit an electronic USC application; follow this job link or paste in a browser: https://jobs.usc.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=69232

Review of complete applications will begin April 1, 2013 and continue as needed.

USC strongly values diversity and is committed to equal opportunity in employment. Women and men, and members of all racial and ethnic groups, are encouraged to apply.