The Kevin Flanagan Student Travel Award provides up to $800 to undergraduate and/or graduate students interested in diving science to attend American Academy of Underwater Sciences (AAUS) scientific meetings. The award is competitive merit-based. As many as three students may be funded annually. To donate or apply visit: www.aausfoundation.org. Proposal deadline is June 30.

The Kevin Flanagan Student Travel Award was established in collaboration with Kevin’s family as a legacy to his commitment to AAUS and scientific diving. Kevin served as AAUS board member (2009-2011) and diving safety officer at the University of Hawaii and East Carolina University (and previously at the USC Wrigley Institute) prior to his death in April 2012. Our goal is to develop this as the first endowed award of the AAUS Foundation, permanently funded through interest earned on the raised capital.

AAUS Foundation
The mission of the American Academy of Underwater Sciences (AAUS) is to facilitate the development of safe and productive scientific divers through education, research and the advancement of standards for scientific diving practices, certifications and operations. The AAUS Foundation is a 501(c)3 corporation established to promote the philanthropic efforts of the Academy.

Donations are tax deductible!
Please indicate in the notes section on the donation form that you would like to direct your donation specifically for this award.

DONATE AT: www.aaus.org/kevin_flanagan