The award honors one of our former students, Jimmy Gauntt, who graduated Phi Beta Kappa from USC in 2006. He was a terrific student with a deep passion for the literary, performing, and visual arts. Jimmy died tragically in the summer of 2008 at the age of twenty-four. This award honors his memory and celebrates the academic and artistic achievements of our current undergraduate students.

The Department of English is pleased to announce the 2014 JIMMY recipients for Outstanding Graduating Seniors

Please join us and Professor David Román in congratulating these outstanding students.

- Christopher Bautista

The award honors one of our former students, Jimmy Gauntt, who graduated Phi Beta Kappa from USC in 2006. He was a terrific student with a deep passion for the literary, performing, and visual arts.

Jimmy died tragically in the summer of 2008 at the age of twenty-four. This award honors his memory and celebrates the academic and artistic achievements of our current undergraduate students.

The awards are made possible through the generous gifts from family and friends of the named endowments. A special thanks and appreciation to Professor David Román for sponsoring this award each year. Many thanks!
