THE UNRUH UPDATE

Take POSC 395

Internships Available for Spring 2011!

Participating in a political internship can help you gain a competitive edge in today's market, plus it provides practical real-world experience, helps build relationships with potential employers, and allows you to earn college credit. With POSC 395, you may be able to earn between 2 and 8 units for your major/minor course requirements.

Internship placements are available with elected officials, political consultants, non-governmental organizations, state, local, and federal government agencies, City Hall, environmental groups, political parties and more. Internships are available in Los Angeles, Sacramento, Washington D.C., and other cities throughout the U.S.

For more information about POSC 395, stop by the Unruh Institute in VKC 263, email bwvayan@usc.edu, or call 213-740-8964. You must obtain D-Clearance to register for POSC 395.

Students Talk Back

Brown Bag Lunch Series

Boxer vs. Fiorina:

Who Will California Send to Washington?

Tues., Oct. 19th

11:30am-1:00pm

(Program begins at 12:00 noon)

in the Fishbowl Chapel

(at the University Religious Center)

FREE lunch will be served.

When Californians choose our next Senator, will experience be paramount, or do voters want fresh blood in Washington? As we near Election Day, both Barbara Boxer and Carly Fiorina are fighting for each remaining voter. Political practitioners and USC student leaders come together to discuss each campaign's strengths and weaknesses, and to offer their predictions for who California will send to Washington.

Panelists include Margot Thompson, Former Press Secretary to Governor Schwarzenegger; Sam Garrison, Former Personal Aide to Senator Dianne Feinstein; Andrew Hsueh, USC College Democrats; and Kate Cook, USC College Republicans. Co-moderated by Dan Schnur, Chairman, California Fair Political Practices Commission, and Kate Nather, Editor-in-Chief, Daily Trojan.

Students Talk Back is a weekly lunch series where USC students have the opportunity to discuss national and state politics with professional experts from the worlds of campaigns, government, policy and journalism. Every Tuesday, we discuss one issue that dominates political debate in Washington and Sacramento. Students participate as panelists and analysts, and our guest experts answer questions and respond to comments from those in attendance.

“Buy” this Candidate:

The Ethics of Political Marketing

Wed., Oct. 27th, 6:00pm

USC University Club

With so much at stake each election cycle, candidates, political parties, and special interest groups spend huge sums on political marketing activities. Every election brings fresh allegations of underhanded marketing tactics that deceive or manipulate voters and undermine the democratic process. Our panel of experts will attempt to cut through the spin and counter-spin to answer the question: When are political marketing tactics unethical and what can we do about it?

Panelists include Matt Rodriguez, Western States Regional Director, Obama for America; and Jonathan Wilcox, Former Speechwriter, California Governor Pete Wilson. Moderated by Dan Schnur, Chairman, California Fair Political Practices Commission.

This event is sponsored by the Jesse M. Unruh Institute of Politics and The USC Levain Institute for Humanities and Ethics.