The Future of French and Francophone Studies

November 5th, 2010 @1:30 pm / DML, Intellectual Commons

The Future of French and French & Francophone Studies in California

A round-table gathering of teachers and scholars of French and Francophone Studies at all levels (from high school to universities), including advocates involved in the promotion of French and Francophone cultures in California. The panel will discuss the recent closure of departments of French in and around Southern California.

Sponsors
Department of French and Italian
Department of Comparative Literature
Francophone Research and Resource Center
The Cultural Services of the Consulate General of France in Los Angeles

For more information please go to: http://www.usc.edu/schools/college/francophone/events/sched.html or http://college.usc.edu/fren-ital/news_events/index.cfm
Or contact Béatrice Bennett (bbennett@usc.edu), Director of the Francophone Research and Resource Center, or Natania Meeker (nmeeker@usc.edu), Chair of the Department of French and Italian.