The USC Center for Feminist Research's "New Directions in Feminist Research" seminar is organized annually around a particular theme. The seminar offers participants an opportunity to work collectively on thematically linked projects, and also creates public events -- invited speakers, panels, conferences -- that engage the broader feminist community of faculty and students at USC.

Seminar Director:
Rhacel Parreñas
Professor of Sociology & Gender Studies, Dornsife

Seminar Fellows:

Katie Hasson
Assistant Professor of Sociology, Dornsife
PROJECT: The Global Politics of Menstrual Suppression.

Nathaniel Burke
Ph.D. Candidate, Sociology, Dornsife
PROJECT: Performing Masculinity in the Adult Film Industry.

Erin Kamler
Ph.D. Candidate in Communication, Annenberg

Feng-Mei Heberer
Ph.D. Candidate, Critical Studies, Cinema
PROJECT: Lesbian Factory – On the Production of Love and Care Among Migrant Women Workers in Asia.

Demetrios Psihopaides
Ph.D. Candidate, Sociology, Dornsife

Chaitanya Lakkimsetti
Andrew Mellon Postdoctoral Teaching Fellow with the Gender Studies Program and the Center for Feminist Research PROJECT: ‘From Bars to Streets’: Understanding Intimate Industries Through Dance Bars in India.