Course Description and Objectives:
This course offers students at an intermediate level an opportunity to enhance their reading skills as well as developing the pleasure of reading utilizing Extensive Reading (a.k.a. Graded Reading) method with the materials strategically collected by USC East Asian Library. Students are guided to read as many pages as possible without using dictionaries while the instructor carefully monitors their reading behavior and gives advice and suggestions to improve their reading skills.

In this course, the emphasis is put on acquiring the skill to enjoy the contents without translation. Gradually shifting to the materials of higher levels, students will find themselves absorbing the contents without translating each word or sentence into English. Through this type of reading, students will develop general language competence, knowledge of vocabulary, prediction skills, as well as writing and speaking skills. Combined with other activities such as group discussion, shadowing, writing book reports, students will develop general language competence, knowledge of vocabulary, prediction skills, as well as writing and speaking skills. The main part of the class will be reading lab and student-instructor consultations.

1. Participation
You are expected to attend all classes and to be punctual. If you have to be absent from a class for any reason, try to contact the instructor as soon as possible, so that you will not miss any information. If you have to be absent because of a legitimate reason such as illness, you should make a request of (1) extension of homework due and (2) make-up of missed work by providing timely notice and the reason of absence to the instructor. If you are absent from class for two classes consecutively without any information / contact provided to the instructor, it is considered as a sign of withdrawal from the course, and no handouts or information will be saved for such students thereafter.

   Your class participation is evaluated every day -- 5 points per session. If you do NOT try to engage in discussion or in reading, it negatively affects your grade. Excessive chit-chatting, too much English speaking, using cell-phone, late arrival and leaving early also negatively affect your grade.

   If you have to be absent from a class because of a religious observance, you must let the instructor know about it within the first two weeks of the semester.

2. Homework (しゅくだい)
You keep the record of your reading (Reading Log), and submit it 3 times during the semester. The instructor will check it every week, so bring it to every class. The log should include:
   (1) the title,
   (2) the level,
   (3) brief comments on each of the books you read in class and also at home.

   You are encouraged to keep reading at home by checking out the books from Japanese Extensive Reading collection at East Asian Library and keep recording them on the reading log. Limit the number of the books to check out up to three (or one if it is the boxed collection) at a time in order to share the chances to read with other students.

3. Read for class
   Twice during the semester, you will read a book in front of class. First book should be chosen from Level 1 and the second book should be chosen with the consultation with the instructor.
4. Oral book reports
   There are Oral Book Report I (Week 5) and II (Week 9). At each oral book report, you introduce the book(s) you were impressed to class and answer the questions from the classmates. The report should include the title, level, a brief summary of the story and your impression of the book.

5. Presentation
   You are giving a presentation in Week 14. Choose one from the following three options as your presentation format:
   a. Pick up one of the picture books without text, tell your own story along with the book.
   b. Make your own story and present it with or without visual aid (pictures, photos, slides, etc.)
   c. Act out story from a book (group presentation- two or more students)
   QA session will follow your presentation.

6. Written book report (Final project)
   The final book report should be typed using Japanese word processor and it should include the title, level, a summary of the story, and your impression of the book of your choice. The report should be sent to the instructor as an attachment to the e-mail message. It is due on the day scheduled for Final Examination: 2:00 p.m., Tuesday, May 12\(^{th} \). Late submission will lose 10% each hour after the due time.

Academic Conduct
Plagiarism – presenting someone else’s ideas as your own, either verbatim or recast in your own words – is a serious academic offense with serious consequences. Please familiarize yourself with the discussion of plagiarism in SCampus in Section 11, Behavior Violating University Standards https://scampus.usc.edu/1100-behavior-violating-university-standards-and-appropriate-sanctions. Other forms of academic dishonesty are equally unacceptable. See additional information in SCampus and university policies on scientific misconduct, http://policy.usc.edu/scientific-misconduct.

Discrimination, sexual assault, and harassment are not tolerated by the university. You are encouraged to report any incidents to the Office of Equity and Diversity or to the Department of Public Safety. This is important for the safety of the whole USC community. Another member of the university community – such as a friend, classmate, advisor, or faculty member – can help initiate the report, or can initiate the report on behalf of another person. The Center for Women and Men provides 24/7 confidential support, and the sexual assault resource center webpage http://sarc.usc.edu describes reporting options and other resources.

Support Systems
A number of USC’s schools provide support for students who need help with scholarly writing. Check with your advisor or program staff to find out more. Students whose primary language is not English should check with the American Language Institute, which sponsors courses and workshops specifically for international graduate students. The Office of Disability Services and Programs http://sait.usc.edu/academicsupport/centerprograms/dsp/home_index.html provides certification for students with disabilities and helps arrange the relevant accommodations. If an officially declared emergency makes travel to campus infeasible, USC Emergency Information http://emergency.usc.edu will provide safety and other updates, including ways in which instruction will be continued by means of blackboard, teleconferencing, and other technology.

Your being officially enrolled for the course will be taken as confirmation that you have read and understood this syllabus, and agree to its requirements and other relevant conditions stated therein.
