Clinical Volunteer Experience at Ronald McDonald House Los Angeles

The Ronald McDonald House (RMH) is a “Home away from home” for families of children who are receiving medical treatment for critical illnesses. They come from 44 countries and from every state in America. Some children are at the hospital and some stay at the house.

RMH accepts applications for volunteers interested in providing Therapeutic Fun Clubs throughout the year (2.5 hr min commitment per week). This is especially useful experience for students who are interested in psychology, social work, marriage/couple and family therapy.

You will take part in:

- Leading therapeutic activity groups that focus on supporting children and families
- Training focused on your personal and professional growth

Please contact Academic Advisor, Angela Alexanian aalexani@usc.edu, for information about an upcoming orientation date.