On Wednesday our chairperson Jo Ann Farver acknowledged the success of the departmental students who have received a National Science Foundation in the last few years. Notice that they are all clinical area students. Although we have acknowledged them individually in past newsletters, it is worth noting them in the collective. Congratulations to them all as well as their mentors, especially Gayla who is mentoring 3 of the 6!

- Sohyun Han—Gayla Margolin
- Justin Hummer—Jerry Davison
- Bruna Martins—Mara Mather & Margaret Gatz
- Kelly Miller—Gayla Margolin
- Adela Timmons—Gayla Margolin

Given the inspiration of their successful peers, and the encouragement of the Graduate School, a number of first year and second students applied for the NSF Fellowships last week. We won't know the outcomes of their applications for some time but we want to acknowledge their effort and wish them success. We include the students' names and the titles of their applications. Good luck!

- Geoffrey Corner—“Providing and receiving compassionate support in close relationships between partners”.
- Kelly Durbin—“Cognitive and neural mechanisms for age-related differences in emotional memory”.
- Laura Garcia—“The experience of positive emotions during reminiscence among adolescents and young adults”.
- Luiza Vianna Mali—“Differential associations between same- and cross-ethnicity negative peer attitudes and adjustment outcomes among Vietnamese and Mexican American adolescents”.
- Jeffery Newell—“Developing a mediation model for behavior change and video game play”.
- Sarah Stoycos—“Combined DTI and fMRI analysis of males’ transition to parenting”.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR:

Dec. 3rd:
Clinical Faculty Meeting
(student reps welcome)

Dec. 5th:
Mock Interviews

Dec. 8th:
DSM-5 Workshop—
Dr. Greg Niemeyer

Dec. 11th:
Clinical Faculty Meeting
(faculty only)

May 4th:
Leibovitz
Happy Thanksgiving