UPDATE FOR SUPPORTERS OF THE
USC WIRGLY INSTITUTE FOR ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

Commuting at the Wrigley Marine Science Center is always easier with momentum and energy. The lab is buzzing with activity, with classes running smoothly and the campus feeling lively. We are constantly amazed and inspired by the passion and dedication of the students and faculty who work here, and the Wrigley Institute is proud to support their ongoing research.

Graduate Students

Graduate Geology Course

For 15 years, the Institute has been running our annual Graduate Geology Course, one of the most popular on the campus. Open to any graduate students from any school, the course offers an opportunity for students to travel to Catalina Island and explore the geology of the island, gaining a unique perspective on the science.

Snorkeling

No tour of Catalina Island is complete without a visit to the island’s unique surf breaks. Whether you’re a beginner or an experienced surfer, you can find waves to suit your skill level. The island’s beaches offer some of the best surfing in the world, with crystal-clear waters and perfect conditions for catching waves.

Fishing

The Wrigley Institute is a popular spot for anglers of all skill levels. Whether you’re a seasoned fisherman or just starting out, the island offers plenty of opportunities to reel in a catch. The island’s stars provide great fishing conditions, with a variety of species to choose from, including rockfish, yellowtail, and bluefin tuna.
