How are people working across lines of political, religious, and social difference in the U.S.? How does the “softer” side of politics—dialogue, culture, and education—link to tangible, “hard” changes in policy and in people’s everyday lives? How do we generate the civic—and civil—conversations we actually need to address our national challenges?

Join USC PERE for inspiring dialogues with a panel of academics, activists, and artists, a feature performance by CONTRA-TIEMPO, and a special reception after the program.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6
3:30 pm – 5:30 pm
USC Ronald Tutor Campus Center, Ballroom A

Join the conversation!
Twitter: @PERE_USC
IG: USC_PERE_CSII
#TurnThePageOnHate