The Determinants of Sustainable Development and Governance in the Arab World

Georges Corm

Georges Corm is by profession an economist, specialized in the Middle Eastern and Mediterranean region. He is a well-known consultant to International Organization and central banks. In addition to his academic articles and books on economic and financial issues, he is also the author of articles and books pertaining to the contemporary history and sociology of the Arab East. Due to his large economic and financial expertise, he has been Minister of Finance of the Republic of Lebanon between 1998 and 2000.

Thursday, November 11, 2004, 3:30pm
Doheny Memorial Library, Intellectual Commons,
For more info, please contact Béatrice Mousli Bennett, USC Francophone Resource Center, frc@usc.edu

This new lecture is co-sponsored by the School of Religion, the Francophone Resource Center, The International Relations Undergraduate Association, the USC College of Letters, Arts and Sciences and the University’s Information Services Divisions.