Enseigner la Francophonie...

While defining Francophonie and addressing its pedagogical implications in the learning of French, this workshop will provide teaching strategies as well as classroom resources such as francophone literature, film, music, etc...

Nathalie Burle is a Lecturer at the Department of French and Italian at the University of Southern California. She received her Doctorate in Educational Psychology, Learning, and Instruction from the Rossier School of Education at USC. Her research interests are in cognitive language development, second language acquisition and pedagogy, curriculum and faculty development, and in photolanguage.