

Call for Applications from PhD Candidates

Greenberg Research Fellowship USC Shoah Foundation Katz Research Fellowship in Genocide Studies Breslauer, Rutman, and Anderson Research Fellowship 2024-2025

Deadline: December 10, 2023

The USC Dornsife Center for Advanced Genocide Research invites proposals for three research fellowships for advanced-standing PhD candidates: the 2024-2025 Margee and Douglas Greenberg Research Fellowship; the 2024-2025 USC Shoah Foundation Robert J. Katz Research Fellowship in Genocide Studies; and the 2024-2025 Breslauer, Rutman, and Anderson Research Fellowship.

Each fellowship provides $5,000 support and will be awarded to an outstanding advanced-standing PhD candidate from any discipline for dissertation research focused on testimony from the USC Shoah Foundation Visual History Archive and other unique USC resources.

The USC Shoah Foundation Visual History Archive is a collection of over 56,000 audiovisual testimonies of survivors and witnesses of the Holocaust and other genocides, including the Rwandan, Armenian, Guatemalan, Cambodian genocides, the Nanjing Massacre in China, anti-Rohingya mass violence, and war and genocide in Bosnia and Herzegovina. The majority of testimonies are life history interviews in which interviewees discuss their lives before, during, and after genocide and mass violence. With interviews conducted in 65 countries and in 45 languages, testimonies capture both the individual experience of mass violence and the social and cultural history of the 20th century on a global scale. The recipient will be required to spend one month in residence at the USC Dornsife Center for Advanced Genocide Research in Los Angeles during the 2024-2025 academic year. Each fellow will be expected to provide the Center with fresh perspectives, to play a role in Center activities, and to give a public talk during the stay.

Award decisions for each fellowship will be based on the originality of the research proposal and its potential to advance research with testimonies in the USC Shoah Foundation Visual History Archive or other internationally unique and growing research resources at USC, including the extensive Holocaust and genocide studies collection at USC Libraries, which contains 30,000 primary and secondary sources including the original transcripts of the Nuremberg trials and the materials of the New York Life Insurance settlement regarding the Armenian genocide. Unique primary sources in the Special Collections at USC include the Feuchtwanger Memorial Library, which also houses the private papers of dozens of emigrants from the Third Reich, as well as private collections from Jewish Holocaust survivors and liberators.

The USC Dornsife Center for Advanced Genocide Research distinguishes itself from other Holocaust and genocide research institutes by offering access to unique research resources and by focusing its research efforts on the interdisciplinary study of currently under-researched areas. (For more information, visit our website here.)

Applications are due by December 10, 2023.

To submit an application:

Email the following materials to cagr@usc.edu or upload them to the Fellowships page of the Center's website. (Visit <https://dornsife.usc.edu/cagr/fellowships>, click on any of the PhD candidate fellowships listed above, and click Apply.)

- cover letter (including proposed dates of residency)
- CV
- proposal abstract (1-3 pages)
- writing sample
- recommendation letter from your PhD advisor (Your advisor may submit the recommendation letter directly to cagr@usc.edu.)

Each submission will be considered for all three fellowships so only one set of materials per applicant is required.

For questions, please contact cagr@usc.edu.

Scholars interested in these fellowships may also be interested in a separate fellowship competition at the USC Shoah Foundation, which is inviting applications from advanced-level PhD candidates for the 2024-2025 USC Shoah Foundation Robert J. Katz Research Fellowship in Antisemitism Studies. This fellowship focuses on VHA-based research about antisemitism, including its causes, representations, and consequences.
