Good morning Trojans! We hope you had a nice weekend and that midterms are going well! In last week’s newsletter, we shared on-demand workshops from the Kortshak Center regarding effective studying, test-taking strategies, etc. This week, we’d like to share a little about Supplemental Instruction (SI).

SI is a complimentary resource for USC students from all majors to help you do your best in the traditionally difficult STEM-based courses. SI support includes peer-led study sessions. Please consider exploring what SI has to offer!

Join Us for the Los Angeles LSAC Law School Forum!

LSAC (Law School Admission Council) is hosting their annual LSAC LA Forum on Saturday, October 28 at the Millennium Biltmore Hotel (Downtown LA). Close to 200 law schools will be participating! No matter what year you are at USC, this is a great opportunity to connect with different law schools across the country and to learn about the many JD and LLM programs available.

Some members of the USC Pre-Law Advising team will be taking the Metro to the Forum attending. Feel free to join us!

We will meet at the Expo Park/USC Metro station (across from MHP on Exposition) at 8:00AM on the entrance ramp to the platform that goes toward Downtown Los Angeles. LSAC is hosting a "Law School Admission Essentials" workshop at 9AM. The law school fair starts at 10AM The morning session ends by 12:30PM but you can leave earlier as needed.

The event is free! You will just need to sign up for the LSAC Forum through LSAC here and will need a TAP card with train fare loaded onto it. Dress is business casual.
Don't forget to sign up for the USC Law School Fair on Thursday, October 26 while you are at it!

Meet with a Pre-Law Advisor

Our pre-law advisors Briana and Aeverie have availability this week to meet with USC students interested in law school. These appointments are open to everyone and we highly encourage juniors applying next year to law school to sign up to touch base!
