Taiwan-America Student Conference

TASC is a three week long professional conference held in Taiwan and conducted formally in English. Throughout the conference, 15 top university students from Taiwan and 15 from America will participate in roundtable discussions, academic forums, networking events, and cultural/historical excursions. For more detailed information, please visit <http://www.taiwan-america.org/>. Financial Aid and scholarships are available for students that qualify.

Application deadline is Saturday, March 11, 2017

Upcoming Opportunities

Graduate Summer Fieldwork Grants

The USC Korean Studies Institute, with a grant provided by the Academy of Korean Studies, funds research that pertains to Korea or that involves Korea as part of a larger comparative or interdisciplinary research. This support enables USC doctoral students to carry out field research on a topic addressing an aspect of Korean studies. If you have questions regarding a particular project or grant requirement, please contact Linda Kim, Program Specialist, at ksi@dornsife.usc.edu.

Application deadline is Friday, March 10, 2017

ICAS Internship/Fellowship for Undergraduate and Graduate Students

The Institute of Contemporary Asian Studies (ICAS) at Temple University, Japan Campus (TUJ) is currently accepting applications for its summer internship/fellowship program. More details about the program can be found on the ICAS Internship/Fellowship webpage. Interested students are encouraged to contact ICAS at aticas@tuj.temple.edu. This is an unpaid internship.

Application deadline is Saturday, April 1, 2017
