Event Wrap: EASC/KSI Faculty Book Launch

More than 30 students and faculty joined EASC and KSI in celebrating professors Brett Sheehan's and Sandra Fahy's newest publications. Discussants Professor Georgia A. Mickey, Cal Poly Pomona, and Professor John S. Park, Harvard Kennedy School, gave glowing reviews of both works and their impact on the field. Professors Sheehan and Fahy also gave their perspectives on the researching and writing process.

Event Wrap: U.S. Department of Education Title VI Directors' Meeting

Last week, EASC's Associate Director Grace Ryu and Program Specialist Jier Dong attended the U.S. Department of Education's International and Foreign Language Education (IFLE) Title VI Project Directors' Meeting in Washington, D.C. Grace and Jier attended meetings on various topics ranging from minority access to education to leveraging social media in reaching constituents. EASC is excited about the new 2014-2018 grant cycle and all the great programming that it will offer our community!

Event Reminder: EASC Taiwanese Documentary Series

The second of the series will take place on Thursday, April 16 and Saturday, April 18. It will feature the works by award-winning filmmaker Director KE Chin-Yuan, whose films focus on environmental issues. The three films selected to be shown at USC will explore the subject of interaction between human development and the natural environment. The EASC Taiwanese Documentary Series is made possible by the Spotlight Taiwan grant from the Taiwan Academy of the Ministry of Culture, Republic of China, with additional support provided by Special Patron Dr. Samuel Yin, the USC School of Cinematic Arts, and the USC Pacific Asia Museum.
