2015 Korean History Workshop for Overseas Doctoral Students

The Korea Foundation is conducting a new workshop program for doctoral students of Korean history who are currently undertaking their PhD course work and/or in the process of writing their dissertations on Korean history themes. This program is designed to reinforce the presence of Korean Studies abroad, especially in the field of Korean history, by providing doctoral students with opportunities to learn more about the latest research trends/findings, receive guidance on dissertation writing, and visit historical archives in Korea.

Workshop Period: July 20-26, 2015. Application should be submitted by email to the Korea Foundation's Korean Studies Department at fellow@kf.or.kr by May 20, 2015.

Conference

Forum for American/Chinese Exchange at Stanford \(FACES\)

Every year, FACES holds a faculty-advised, student-run two-part conference. The first takes place at Stanford University in October, and the second in one of the FACES chapters in China in March. As part of the FACES mission, the conference seeks to promote dialogue among young U.S.-China leaders and create opportunity for intellectual and personal exchange. The application deadline is June 20, 2015. For more information, please go to its webpage.
