Upcoming Event: EASC/KSI 80's Holiday Party

Wednesday, December 4, 2013 / 3:00-5:00 PM / Ahn House (AHN), USC USC East Asian Studies Center and USC Korean Studies Institute cordially invite you to our holiday party to celebrate the end of a productive semester. Please join us for hors d'oeuvres, refreshments and the sights and sounds of the 80's (no costumes expected).

As part of our 80's theme, we will be displaying photos of EASC and KSI staff from the 80's. If you have a photo of yourself from the 80's that would like to have included in this display, please feel free to send it to us at easc@usc.edu.

RSVP by Wednesday, November 27, 2013.

Event Reminder:

Junkyard Planet

Tuesday, December 3 / 4:00-5:30 PM / Leavey Library (LVL) Auditorium, USC Writer Adam Minter will visit USC to discuss his book Junkyard Planet: Travels in the Billion-Dollar Trash Trade, where he explores the export of America's recyclables and the massive profits that China and other rising nations earn from it. >RSVP

JEASC 4th Annual Conference Wrap-Up

Over 40 graduate students and faculty from USC and UCLA participated in the 4th annual JEASC conference and graduate professional development workshop last Friday, November 15, 2013 at UCLA. A robust discussion of “Religion, Political Identities and Sacred Symbols in East Asia” took place. Thank you to all who attended. >Pictures

USC and Pacific Asia Museum Form Alliance

USC and Pacific Asia Museum of Pasadena, one of the few U.S. museums dedicated to the arts and culture of Asia and the Pacific Islands, announced an affiliation on November 18, 2013. The new partnership will preserve the museum’s 1924 Chinese Qing Dynasty-inspired mansion in downtown Pasadena as an art museum and will enhance the scholarship of the faculty and students at USC’s six arts schools and those in the departments of art history, East Asian language and cultures, religion and archaeology. In addition, the alliance will provide a foundation for renewed museum studies and a curatorial training program at USC. The new name of the museum will be the USC Pacific Asia Museum.
