Public Speaking for Non-Native Speakers

Saori Katada, Associate Professor of International Relations, and Meiling Cheng, Associate Professor of Theatre/Critical Studies and English, will lead a workshop on professional public speaking for graduate students who are non-native speakers of English. Good public speaking skills are important for a career in academia, and non-native English speakers often face unique challenges when giving presentations. This talk will address these issues and provide advice specifically to graduate students who are not native English speakers on how to present well in an academic setting.

MONDAY | JANUARY 26 | 12:00 - 1:30 PM | Ahn House

Work-Life Balance and Time Management

It can sometimes seem as if professional success can only come at the price of personal sacrifice. Academia in particular has a set of unique dynamics and demands that can make it appear difficult to navigate both work and life. This seminar will introduce some basic time management and work-life balance skills that can help ameliorate those tensions. Priorities, publishing, tenure and beyond, and the issue of family and children are among the topics to be covered. This seminar will be presented by Professor David Kang, Director of EASC & KSI.

MONDAY | FEBRUARY 2 | 12:00 - 1:30 PM | Ahn House
