Upcoming Events: EASC Grad Forums

In the EASC Grad Forum series, USC faculty address important topics for the professionalization of graduate students. Our two forum topics this spring are job talks and public speaking for non-native speakers. Graduate students studying East Asia from any field are welcome to attend. RSVP today!

Every Talk is a Jobtalk

WEDNESDAY | FEBRUARY 19 | 12:00-1:30 PM | AHN HOUSE

Professor David Kang (International Relations and Business) will provide advice and tips on using PowerPoint, body language and other techniques to deliver successful presentations in an academic setting.

Public Speaking for Non-Native Speakers

WEDNESDAY | FEBRUARY 26 | 12:00-1:30 PM | AHN HOUSE

Associate Professors Saori Katada (International Relations) and Meiling Cheng (Theatre, Critical Studies, and English) will address the specific challenges of professional public speaking for academics who are non-native speakers of English.

Event Wrap: East Asia Career Panel

Watch Video | Pictures

Over 70 undergraduate and graduate students attended our second annual East Asia Career Panel last Tuesday as a part of USC Career Fest 2014. They gained insight into how East Asian language and international experiences impact career and personal growth. Thank you to our generous alumni panelists for sharing their knowledge and advice.

Maymasters Explore Buddhist Thought, US-Asia Dialogue

Two Spring 2014 Maymaster courses, which offer opportunities for research and experiential learning off campus, will be taught by EASC-affiliated faculty.
