Congratulations to our Global East Asia Scholars!
Please join us in congratulating our 2023 Global East Asia Scholars! After three long years, we are excited to send over 30 students on two programs to Japan. Our Global East Asia Scholars represent diverse fields in Comparative Literature, Human Biology, History, Environmental Studies, Theatre, Archeology, GeoDesign, Computer Science, Sociology, Cognitive Science, Media Arts and Practice, Anthropology, International Relations, and History. We are proud to be a Center that can support undergraduate field research and we look forward to sending our students abroad! Please see below for more information about the two courses.

EASC 360: Tokyo - Japanese Society and Design Thinking
Taught by Professor Miya Desjardins, Art History and EALC
This course examines contemporary Japanese design beyond the material culture of the every day, reframing it as a form of social engagement that exists across various media and disciplines.

EASC 360: Kyoto - Heritage, Culture, and Identity in Japan's Ancient Capital
Taught by Professor Jason Webb, Comparative Literature and EALC
This course introduces the city of Kyoto via the history, religion, literature, architecture, and aristocratic milieu of the Heian period. As students' knowledge of Kyoto's past and familiarity with the contemporary city deepens, they will be able to address questions that fuse history with the present.

Graduating Student Feature!
EASC wants to highlight the amazing accomplishments of our graduating students who will be featured on the EASC Instagram! Today, we want to highlight Minjee Park, our graduating East Asian Studies Center student worker! After graduating, Minjee will be going to grad school for a Masters in Marriage and Family Therapy. She is hoping to become a licensed therapist and work in community mental health or private practice. Minjee's research interests have always been focused on making therapy more culturally aware and accessible to communities of color. By going to grad school, she aims to become a therapist that can address racial trauma and intergenerational differences in communities of color (with a special interest in Asian Americans)!

We asked Minjee if she had any advice to give to incoming students:

"I would say don't be afraid to take time and explore everything you’re interested in. You don't need to have everything figured out. Taking a variety of classes in different departments was so helpful because it let me find out more about myself and what I wanted to do. By senior year, I had a pretty solid grasp of my career goals and I felt very happy with the major I chose. Take advantage of office hours..."
and talk to professors from classes you're most interested in. I've found that's where you get the most support on your academic journey and learn the most interesting things!

Congratulations, Minjee!!🎉
