

— Nature after Disenchantment —

New Histories of Religion and Science

Peter Harrison is Professor Emeritus of History and Philosophy at the University of Queensland, and for many years was the Andreas Idreos Professor of Science and Religion at the University of Oxford. He has published extensively on the philosophical, scientific, and religious thought of the early modern period, and has written more generally on the historical relations between science and religion. His twelve books include The Territories of Science and Religion (Chicago, 2015) and Some New World: Myths of Supernatural Belief in a Secular Age (Cambridge, 2024).

Prof. Peter Harrison

Our symposium presents research in progress from USC humanities faculty on the “supernatural,” narratives of disenchantment, scientific pluralism, and new approaches to im/materiality. After two panels, Harrison will respond in a closing roundtable. All USC faculty and students are invited.

Friday, October 4, 2024

9:30am
Welcome & Intros
at TCC 227

Join us for coffee and pastries

10:00am
Morning Session
at TCC 227

Peter Harrison (University of Queensland)
Alexandre Roberts (USC Classics)
Jessica Zu (USC Religion)

12:30pm
Lunch
at TCC 227

Join us for a catered lunch and conversation

1:30pm
Afternoon Session
at TCC 227

Susanna Berger (USC Art History & Philosophy)
Fred Clark (USC Classics)
Janet Hoskins (USC Anthropology & Religion)

Come to one session or both!
LEARN MORE AT NOVAFORUM.ORG

This Event is made possible by the support of 'In Lumine: Supporting the Catholic Intellectual Tradition on Campuses Nationwide' (Grant #62372) from the John Templeton Foundation.

REGISTER HERE

