

Levan Institute for the Humanities

The Levan Institute provides modest grants ($200–$400 for in-person events and $100–$300 for online events) to help co-sponsor lectures and conferences in the humanities at USC. Grants are awarded on a rolling basis.

Requests for co-sponsorship must be submitted a minimum of four weeks prior to the event. Organizers are expected to secure funding from other sources.

All events co-sponsored by the Levan Institute for the Humanities must list the institute as an official co-sponsor on any digital or printed materials, website and calendar listings, and include the event in the Campus Humanities Calendar (CHC). Instructions for inclusion in the CHC will be provided with the notification of funding.

To apply for funding, please complete and save this form as a PDF to send to the Levan Institute at usclevan@usc.edu.

1. Title, event date, and description of the proposed event or program, including participants and activities.
2. Organizers. (Graduate students should copy on the email a faculty adviser who can corroborate that the event is approved by the hosting academic unit.)
3. Intended audience.
4. Amount requested, complete budget, estimated dollar amounts, detailing all planned expenditures, existing funds and funding sources, pending/requested funds and funding sources.