CV for David Wallace – October 2017

Personal

Born 1976 in San Rafael, California; US/UK dual citizen. Currently resident in Los Angeles, USA.

Employment

- 2016-: Professor of Philosophy at the School of Philosophy, Dornsife College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, University of Southern California.
- 2014-2016: Tutorial Fellow in Philosophy, and Vice-Master (academic), at Balliol College, Oxford, and Professor in Philosophy of Physics at the University of Oxford.
- 2004-5: Fellow by Examination (Junior Research Fellow) at Magdalen College, Oxford
- 2002: Postdoctoral Research Assistant at the Centre for Quantum Computation, Oxford University

Education

- 2004-2010: DPhil student in Philosophy, Magdalen College, Oxford, supervised by Prof. Simon Saunders. My DPhil ("The Emergent Multiverse: Quantum Theory according to the Everett Interpretation") was greatly delayed when I was appointed to a permanent teaching position at Oxford, but was submitted in April 2010 and passed its examination in September 2010.
- 1987-1994: Bedford School, UK.

Publications – Books

Publications – papers in peer-reviewed journals (including accepted papers awaiting publication)

Publications

Publications - published work elsewhere

Publications - forthcoming, submitted and other papers

1. D. Wallace, "Why Black Hole Information Loss is Paradoxical" (2017), in submission.
11. D. Wallace, "Life and Death in the Tails of the GRW Wave Function" (2014), online-only.

Teaching

Undergraduate classes taught: general philosophy of science, philosophy of quantum mechanics, philosophy of statistical mechanics.

Graduate seminars taught: probability and decision theory, philosophy of statistical mechanics, the Everett interpretation.

Undergraduate tutorial teaching in Philosophy of Maths, Philosophy of Science, Philosophy of Physics, Formal Logic, Frege's Foundations of Arithmetic, the Leibniz/Clarke Correspondence, Philosophy of Mind, Philosophy of Psychology.

Refereeing and assessment

Editorial Board, Mind.

Philosophy journals: Studies in the History and Philosophy of Modern Physics, British Journal for the Philosophy of Science, Mind, Philosophy of Science, European Journal for Philosophy of Science, Erkenntnis, Nous, Synthese.

