We are in the final stretch of our redesign of the USC Dornsife website. The newly revamped site is slated to launch the week of April 24.

Please fill out the form at the link below to confirm whether or not your new WordPress site will be ready to go live at that time.

If your site will not be ready for launch in April, we will provide you with a list of dates after launch when you can go live with your new WordPress website in the upcoming months.

Website project ambassadors, please respond by April 5. You may view the list of web project ambassadors here.
